Many suffer with chronic medical issues that arise downstream from chronic unrecognized allergies with specific causes that can be corrected. These allergies can result in many symptoms from rashes and gastrointestinal complaints, to respiratory problems, fibromyalgia, fatigue and dementia. Depression and many psychiatric problems, including anger and mood swings, can arise as the unpleasant outcome of these chronic, subtle, and frequently unrecognized problems. “Immunity issues” often result in long-term “autoimmunity” issues.

Oftentimes individuals with these reactive problems are treated ineffectively for years, as psychiatric medications don’t fix medical problems. I know - I used to miss them myself.

At the reference links listed below you will find specifics on how you can proceed with testing for immune dysregulation. Tests are available from our Virginia Beach office. The Basic ELISA kit tests for 138 items with a charge of $350, and the Comprehensive ELISA kit tests for 307 items with a charge of $700. There will be an additional $150 charge for a 30 min. test review with Dr. Parker once the test results have come in. These tests are most often reimbursed by insurance carriers.

Protocol:

Plan to have blood drawn at a LabCorp facility on a Monday or Tuesday. They must mail the blood samples out that same day. See the reverse side of this handout for specific instructions regarding going to the lab for the blood draw.

International clients: Please request the International ELISA How-To in PDF, and we will send it electronically.

Please download, read instructions and find more information at CorePsych.com under Parker Services>Autoimmune Testing: LRA ELISA/ACT – at that page are several useful downloads, including an important paper by Dr Russell Jaffe [with many peer reviewed references], regarding how and why one should do LRA ELISA Immune Disorder testing.

We will provide for you a list of billing codes according to the medical complaints we have on record in your file. Those codes will assist with your filing with your insurance company for the ELISA testing.

4. THEY WILL EITHER:
 - a. GIVE YOU THE TUBES TO SEND TO THE LAB THRU FEDEX OR
 - b. THEY WILL SEND THEM TO THE LAB FOR YOU

Preparing specimen for transport:

Chill cool pack in the refrigerator at least three (3) hours [NEVER freeze]. Blood in the vacutainers should be kept in the refrigerator before packing and shipping (no need to spin).

For shipment:

--1. For packing the vacutainer specimen, please follow these instructions accordingly:

- Place the foam vacutainer holder in the bottom of the box.
- Place the four (4) vacutainers in the holder.*
- Place the absorbent gauze / paper provided over the vacutainers.
- Place the cool pack right on top.
- Close the lid and secure the Styrofoam box tightly.

Please note that the "discard tube" may be used for other assays OR returned to EAB.*

--2. Place the Styrofoam box into the cardboard box. These materials are needed to fully protect the specimen and keep it cool in transit.

--3. Place the box and the paperwork into the plastic diagnostic bag. While tight, it will go in if turned sideways.

--4. Call FedEx or UPS (in the morning if possible) for pick up the same day.

WE MUST RECEIVE THE BLOOD SAMPLE OF LIVING CELLS OVERNIGHT.
